

A wedding couple is walking down a stone archway. The groom is wearing a dark green tuxedo with a black bow tie, and the bride is wearing a white strapless wedding dress with a long veil. They are both smiling. The archway is flanked by two large stone columns with gold-colored capitals. The air is filled with many white and pink rose petals falling around them. On the left, a person in a red shirt is partially visible, and on the right, a person in a blue shirt is also partially visible, both appearing to be throwing or catching petals.
